

Channel ARP ESSER Funding into Language Learning Resources

Support World Language and English Learners, and their Families

What is ARP ESSER?

ARP ESSER is an emergency relief fund giving nearly $122 billion to safely reopen US elementary and secondary schools and mitigate the pandemic's effects on students. At least 20% of funds must address learning loss through evidence-based interventions and help to alleviate the disproportionate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on underrepresented student subgroups.

ARP ESSER funds can be applied towards any resources permissible under major federal grants, Titles I, III, and IVA, McKinney Vento, and IDEA.

How can these funds support World Language Learners?

- Use language learning to help minority students, low-income and at-risk students, & students with disabilities improve in all subjects and better prepare for the job market
- Aid disadvantaged students with instructional materials, educational technology (including software), professional development, remote learning, and summer learning
- Support Multilingual Learners through instructional materials for World Languages, increase language proficiency, and encourage family member participation.

How can these funds be applied to support English Learners and their families?

- Mitigate language/learning loss during summer break for students in non-English speaking households with English learning tools that have native language support
- Implement parent, family, and community engagement, outreach, and training activities
- Support adult literacy in English and so families can best support EL students
